

Facilitator: Nick — steer the room and keep time. Hand the finance blocks to James / Antonio / Quintin (you steer, they carry the numbers). Every block ends in a decision or an owner, or it wasn't worth the hour.

THE HOUR

TIME	TOPIC	QUESTIONS TO STEER THE ROOM	LEAVE WITH
0–5	Reset the table	"It's been months. Today we leave with roles, a contribution schedule, and one move." → One word each: where's your head on 8WH?	Everyone present + today's goal
5–15	Where we stand finance leads	What do we actually have — cash pooled, anything invested, what's it worth today? · What stalled since we last met, and why?	An honest baseline
15–25	Recommit + the money finance leads	Who's all-in going forward — and what does "in" mean? · How do contributions work now, and what's the NEW schedule: how much, how often?	Confirmed roster + a new contribution schedule
25–40	Assign roles	Per person: "Given your background, this lane fits — do you want it?" Walk the role map below.	A named owner for every function
40–52	The next 90 days	If we move only ONE thing this quarter — a first investment, launching the brand, or seeding the scholarship fund — what is it?	The priority + its first action
52–60	Lock it	Round the room: each person's ONE action. Set the next-meeting date.	Written actions + a monthly cadence

ROLE MAP — FOR THE 25–40 BLOCK

James Investments · Marcus Deal sourcing & due diligence · Quintin Treasurer / books · Antonio Strategy & structure · Keyth Operations / ventures · Nick Brand, media & the site · Dwayne Ops / logistics · Kenny assign live

MAKE THE HOUR COUNT

Everyone speaks

On each round-robin — no one coasts in an 8-person room.

Delegate the numbers

You facilitate; let the finance guys own the money blocks.

Send ahead

The site link + "What can you contribute?" / "What lane do you want?"